CABLE NEWS FROM AUSTRALIA

The S.S. "Matunga" Missing.

Melbourne, 14th August.

The Navy Office announces that there is grave anxiety regarding the fate of the steamer "Matunga," which left Sydney on July 27th, for Rabaul, where she was due August 7th. She was last heard of on August 5th. The "Matunga" carried a crew of 40 and several passengers.

Melbourne, 16th August.

Three search vessels have arrived at Rabaul, but no trace of the "Matunga" has been found.

Street Improvement, Melbourne.

Melbourne, 14th August.

At a conference of the City Council and other interested bodies to consider a solution of the problem of the congestion of vehicular and pedestrian traffic at the intersection of Swanston and Flinden Streets, Melbourne, two proposals made by Mr. Morton, City Engineer, were submitted. The first was for the greater use of Queen's Bridge, involving the construction of 99 feet of street to allow the diversion of the southern suburban traffic. The second, contingent on the erection of a bridge at Spencer Street as a direct route to Toorak and St. Kilda Roads, would necessitate the widening of Roy Street and the removal of the swinging basin for shipping at West Spencer Street.

Closer Settlement Board, Victoria.

Melbourne, 14th August.

The Minister for Lands has announced the personnel of the new permanent Closer Settlement Board. Mr. W. McIver is Chairman, with a salary of £800. Messrs. Temple Smith and George Moore are members with salaries of £600. The appointment is for three years.

Returned Soldiers' Employment.

Melbourne, 14th August.

At a meeting of the Master Drapers' Association, a resolution was carried that preference as far as possible be given to returned soldiers for all appointments to staffs, and that warehouses would not during the war appoint single men of military age unless they had been rejected as physically unfit, or have obligations such as to prevent enlistment.

Australian Repatriation Scheme.

Sydney, 15th August.

The Australian Federal Government is rapidly elaborating the repatriation scheme, which will include English soldiers, who will be given a chance to earn a living and acquire land for intensive culture from their wages. The cost of establishing a man as a wheat grower is too great to permit a general farm settlement scheme, so provision will be made for the establishment of new industries like hog-raising and pineapple cultivation on the co-operative principle with Government assistance.

The whole scheme is estimated to cost 60 millions, and its fruition entirely depends upon the provision by the British Government of the necessary loan. Unless the Treasury gives this assurance the Commonwealth will probably be severely crippled.—"Times" Cable.

Strike on East-West Railway.

Melbourne, 16th August.

On the East-West Railway the construction gangs of the eastern section have struck work because the Minister, the Hon. W. A. Watt, has refused pay for the period covering the previous strike.

Arrest of Adela Pankhurst.

Melbourne, 16th August.

Women Socialists and Pacifists attempted to invade Parliament House. Miss Adela Pankhurst was arrested, and the crowd dispersed. Later on it raided a meeting of the One-Woman-One-Recruit League, and violently assaulted a lady speaker.

Australian Naval Air Service.

Melbourne, 16th August.

Mr. J. Cook announces the inauguration of a Naval Air Service for reconnaissance work within the Commonwealth.

The Geelong Bye-Election.

Melbourne, 18th August.

In the Geelong bye-election for the State Parliament of Victoria, Mr. Purnell, Liberal, defeated Mr. McCormick, Labour. The previous election was declared void. Mr. Purnell increased his former majority of 528 to 948.

Obituary Notices.

Sydney, 16th August.

The death is reported of Mr. Robert Scobie, Member for the Murray district in the New South Wales Assembly, from heart failure; also of the ex-member, Mr. John Haynes, proprietor of the "Newsletter."

Coal in Hulks Commandeered.

Melbourne, 17th August.

The Navy Office is commandeering all coal in hulks.

The National Service Bureau.

Melbourne, 17th August.

Mr. Hughes has announced the appointment of Mr. Haldane, of the Postal Department, to be Director-General of the National Service Bureau, and Mr. Whitehead, of the State Labour Bureau, to be Director for Victoria. Further nominations for New South Wales and Western Australia are awaited. As there is no trouble in South Australia no branch has been established there.

Adela Pankhurst Fined.

Melbourne, 17th August.

Adela Pankhurst was fined £2 on a charge of obstructing the carriage-way in connection with a demonstration outside the Federal Parliament. Sympathisers paid the fine.

The Captured German Colonies.

Melbourne, 17th August.

The Senate passed Mr. Bakhap's motion expressing approval and appreciation of the Secretary of State's statement on January 31st, emphatically declaring that none of the captured German possessions shall be returned, and furthermore resolving that any proposal to restore captured colonies in the vicinity of Australia would be particularly distasteful, and prejudicial to the interests of the people of the Commonwealth and the future peace of the world.

M.L.A. of N.S.W. Fined.

Sydney, 18th August.

At the Central Police Court, Sydney, Mr. Percival Brookfield, M.L.A., of New South Wales, was fined £100, or six months' imprisonment, for using words likely to prejudice recruiting.

"A" is for Anzac.

Melbourne, 20th August.

Military orders state that members of the A.I.F. who served in Gallipoli are entitled to wear the letter "A" over the unit-colour patches on both sleeves of their service dress-jacket and greatcoat.

GENERAL CABLES.

The Melbourne building trade employers propose to form a Builders' Chamber to protect their mutual interests. One object is to settle disputes by arbitration.

The Governor-General has decorated Corporal W. O. Moyle, of the 8th Batt., with the Military Medal, in Caulfield Hospital.

August 14.—Useful rains have fallen in Victoria and in the Riverina district of New South Wales. In other parts of New South Wales partial rains have been experienced.

The Victorian Assembly has rejected the motion of Mr. Downwards to abolish the Agent-General's Office in London, by seventeen votes to twelve.

SPORTING CABLES.Racing.

Adelaide, 20th August.

The Adelaide Grand National was won by Wistendale, with Cordelier 2, Woodprince 3. Tote dividends, £19 and £14.

Billiards.

Lindrum has scored 8,593, and Gray 7,990, in the billiard match now being played.

Melbourne, 16th August.

In the Gray-Lindrum billiard match, Gray made a fine recovery yesterday, securing the lead by 347 points. Present scores are: Gray, 10,922; Lindrum, 10,575.

Melbourne, 20th August.

Gray has scored 14,668 and Lindrum 13,794 in their billiard match.

Boxing.

Vince Blackburn, 118½ lbs., champion bantam weight of Australia, outpointed Sid Godfrey, 127½ lbs., at Sydney, after a skilful display.

Melbourne, 20th August.

Tommy Uren, 146½ lbs., outpointed Harry Stone, 139 lbs., in a return match at Melbourne Stadium. The Australian won with a substantial margin.

Brisbane, 16th August.

Herb. McCoy, 9 st. 10 lb., outpointed Eugene Volaire, 9 st. 6 lbs., in twenty rounds, at the Brisbane Stadium.

A Scheme That Miscarried.

Illicit communication between prisoners at Yatala Labour Prison in S.A. and their friends outside has often been suspected, but it is sometimes difficult to prevent it. An attempt to convey goods to inmates of the Yatala Labour Prison was frustrated recently. Four men and a woman hired a cab in King William-street and proceeded to Northfield, near the prison quarries. It is believed that two of the number conveyed a parcel containing tobacco and cigarette papers to the quarries, where they "planted" it along with some letters, which were evidently intended for their friends inside the gaol. On returning to the city the party left the vehicle without paying the cabman. Adelaide detectives subsequently arrested a man on a charge of having been unlawfully on prison property.

Soldiers' "Test" Cricket.

At Lord's, on Saturday, the Australian and South African Forces beat English Navy and Army, scoring 242 against 106. For the winners, Captain E. P. Barbour made 101 in three hours, hitting two 6's and eight 4's. C. G. Macartney took four wickets for 37 runs and T. J. Matthews three for 18. Admiral Jellicoe, Lord Harris and Lord Leconfield were amongst the spectators. The funds of the Officers' Families Association will benefit materially, as over £158 was taken at the gates. Score:—

Crime and Revenue.

The assistant clerk of the Adelaide Police Court has compiled an interesting chart, giving a summary of the annual returns and revenue for each year since 1890. It would appear that with the exception of a few years within the last decade the number of offences committed in the area over which the court has jurisdiction has not greatly varied during the period reviewed. The number of convictions recorded under sum-

The Fighting in Flanders.

A Great Battle of Artillery. The Fine Work of the Drivers.

By C. E. W. BEAN.

British Headquarters, France,
August 18th.

The great battle in Flanders has been a battle of artillery in a sense which is applicable to no other battle. Day after day, during long bombardments preceding each attack, and during drawn out troubled intervals between the battle's stages, the artillery has borne the brunt both of work and danger in this colossal fight. The artillery would not claim it had to face a whirlwind of the sort into which the infantry plunges day after day, and week after week. The gun's crews stand by, living, eating, sleeping and working amid a desultory shower of shells from the biggest to the smallest, which now never ceases week in and week out, often increasing to angry, black, purposeful storms. Day and night, up along roads constantly bargaged, often through darkness impenetrable except for gunflashes, past unspeakable mires wherein a mule has been known to disappear, neck, head and ears, comes the ammunition train. And in this trial the artillery drivers have come by their own at last. Till now the drivers have not been considered men on whom the brunt of the fighting falls. Yesterday both Australian and British battery officers told us, "Don't forget the drivers. If anyone deserves credit out of this show, it is they."

Officer after officer, sergeant after sergeant, have given their lives ungrudgingly, and they speak of their men with a pride which makes the heart glow. I know that our Australian drivers when they have a barrage before them have one rule, that it is best to go straight ahead and take what comes. They have fewer losses that way in the end. They say, "Give the horses head room, don't hesitate, don't crowd." That is their answer to German barrages.

There is a comradeship between the driver and his horse these wild days which one scarcely realised before. "Your horse knows quite well when things are dangerous," one told us yesterday as he left that desolation. "If the corner is awkward and you are anxious to pass it rapidly, the horses quicken up instinctively. If shells begin to fall where you are standing the horse will always get close up to you and press his side against yours. If they are left by themselves when shells fall near, they begin whinneying and neighing for you immediately."

We left that Australian artillery towards evening in their desolate, pink, shell-pitted landscape, amidst scattered black bursts, carrying out the day's work as simply as if they were driving home cows on a Northern River farm.

We came out with a British Major, whose battery near by had been doing glorious work. He had been allowed forty-eight hours' rest after long-continuous fighting, and he was enjoying the prospect like a schoolboy, hardly able to talk without laughing. The way he spoke of his men and ours simply brought tears to your eyes. Before God, they have been making a tradition worthy of Britain and Australia.

mary procedure in 1890 was 1,070, and in 1916 the total was 2,901, but in each of the three years prior to 1915 the number went over the 4,000 mark. It is expected that the revenue for the year just closing will be something like £4,200.

The Way of the Australian.

It looks as if some of our Armidale boys can draw the long-bow a bit. Anyway, an amusing incident is contained in a recent letter home from an Armidale stretcher-bearer. He and a mate were carrying in a 16st. wounded soldier when shells suddenly began to burst in the vicinity. Dropping the wounded man they made for cover, but before they had reached it the wounded man was there himself.

Elderly Man's Disappearance.

The mysterious disappearance of an elderly man named William Timms, whose relatives live at Naringal and Panmure, has been reported. The missing man left a hotel on the evening of 13th April, and some time later he was seen riding a horse in the direction of South Warrnambool. Inquiries have been made concerning the ownership of the animal, but without success. Mr. Timms, of Naringal, reported that his father had been missing for about three weeks.

GENERAL AUSTRALIAN NEWS

In view of fire outbreaks in mice-infested districts, the sale or use of wax matches in the central and western districts of N.S.W. has been prohibited until September 20th.

Several N.S.W. State Ministers indicated recently that the loan expenditure for the next financial year would not exceed £5,000,000, even if more should be available.

In 11 months Australia has imported over £300,000 worth of bicycle and motor tyres from Japan.

No fewer than 301 ships are now controlled by the merging of the P. and O. and Union S.S. Companies.

The native revolt at New Caledonia continues, despite the efforts of the authorities to quell the trouble.

A pickle bottle containing 200 sovereigns was found by Mr. John Quarterman, of Smithfield, N.S.W., embedded in the brickwork of an old blacksmithy at that village.

Up to the end of April 1,355 officers and 24,949 other ranks in the A.I.F. returned to Australia from overseas. Of these 18,613 (all ranks) were discharged.

Australian rabbit is popular in France, where, cooked as the French can cook dishes, it is considered a delicacy. This appreciation will send bunny up to a higher notch in the price list.

The Daylight Saving Act which was passed last summer, and which aroused considerable controversy, meeting with much opposition, particularly from dairy farmers and others producers, is to be repealed when the Federal Parliament meets.

Profits All Right.

The Bank of N.S.W. has declared a dividend at the rate of 10 per cent. and carried forward profits which will bring the reserve fund of the institution to £2,800,000.

The Territory.

It is unlikely the Federal Government will decide the matter of filling the vacant Administratorship of the Northern Territory immediately. Mr. Gilruth is carrying on, but his successor is not yet indicated.

The stand taken by the Municipal Council of Lismore (N.S.W.) in reply to a request by the National Council of Women for the support of the body, in the matter of anti-shouting legislation, was the right one. The Council said it was not constituted to direct the morals of the community, but to administer the Local Government Act in its bearing on local affairs.

The Gardner Will Case.

On June 7 the Full Court of Tasmania decided that the trustees in the estate of the late Robert Gardner shall pay to the tenant for life, Mrs. Merry, 5 per cent. interest annually on £30,000.

Our High Art.

One of the Y.M.C.A. men at the front tells a little tale to the effect that he helped a soldier out of a difficulty with his Australian notes. The French shopkeeper had refused one on the ground that it was a label from a beer bottle.

Small-pox in N.S.W.

Dr. A. T. Chapple, of the Health Department, has said that an outbreak of small-pox which has occurred at Coonabarabran was mild in character, and not likely to spread. Twelve patients and 20 contacts have been under observation.

A Warning Note.

At the annual conference of the Associated Chambers of Manufacturers of Australia, it was stated by the President that industrial strife was a menace to the White Australia policy of the Commonwealth.

To Act as Governor.

The Government of Queensland has not appointed an Acting-Governor of the State since the death of Sir Arthur Morgan. As the Governor is leaving on a trip, the Chief Justice (Sir Pope Cooper) has been appointed Deputy-Governor to act in the absence of his Excellency.

The Recruiting Campaign.

Mr. Tudor, leader of the Parliamentary Labour Party, met with a hostile reception while attempting to speak outside Melbourne Town Hall on June

4th. One man expressed a desire to "punch his head."

A good deal of heckling occurred. A cry went up: "We want conscription."

Mr. Mackinnon, Director-General of Recruiting, said he would pursue voluntarism while it was the law.

Knighthood Conferred.

A Gazette of August 8th states that the Honourable Edward Miller, of the City of Melbourne, in the Commonwealth of Australia, Treasurer for the Australian Branch of the British Red Cross Society, has had the honour of knighthood conferred on him.

Y.M.C.A.

The Y.M.C.A., now one of the greatest, and one of the finest organisations in the world, was founded in 1844 by a number of dry-goods clerks of London. The originator of the formation was Williams, a merchant of the city, and on the jubilee of the body (1894), he was knighted, on account of his connection with it. Born in 1821, Sir George Williams died in 1905. A rough estimate of the value of the property of the Association is £20,000,000.

The Sugar Industry.

The Queensland Government has advised the Prime Minister that the Australian Workers' Union has given an undertaking to abide by the award of Judge McCauley, and thus guarantee industrial stability in the sugar industry for the next 12 months. In his communication to the Queensland Premier, Mr. Hughes, among other things, asked for a guarantee from the State Government that they would not introduce legislation affecting the sugar industry during the period proposed to be fixed for the agreement.

Trading With the Enemy.

In the High Court, presided over by the Acting Chief Justice (Sir Edmund Barton), Mr. Justice Isaacs, and Mr. Justice Rich, on Thursday, judgment was given in the appeal brought against the decision of the South Australian State Full Court quashing the conviction of Francis Hugh Snow on a charge of having traded with the enemy. The decision arrived at by the Full Court was based on the ground that the judges considered the definitions of trading with the enemy by the judge who presided at the trial, when directing the jury, were too wide. The appeal was unanimously allowed and the case remitted to the State Court.

Child Immigrants.

Mr. Connolly, the new Western Australian Agent-General, is interesting himself in the question of child immigration after the war, and, with the Minister of Lands and Industries and the Colonial Secretary, is formulating a scheme which he hopes will be successful in ensuring us a share of that class of immigration which is likely to be big. The main features of the scheme (remarks the Perth "Daily News") are to secure child immigrants over the age of 10 years from Great Britain and the Allied countries, and to train and educate them with a view especially to farm employment. When old enough the boys (and to a lesser degree the girls) would be drafted to farms, where employment would be readily offering. The child so trained would, Mr. Connolly is convinced, grow into a more useful citizen than the average adult immigrant of, say, 30 years of age, although they must necessarily wait for his maturity.

The Torrens Island Trouble.

Referring to the trouble that occurred in June on the pipe track from Alberton to Torrens Island, which is being laid by the State Government for the Commonwealth Government, when about 30 members of the A.W.U. declined to work with several members of the Government General Workers' Association, Mr. F. K. Niess, secretary of the latter organisation, stated that he had been informed by the Chief Secretary (Hon. A. W. Styles) that the Government would not tolerate men being forced to join any particular union because that was straight-out conscription. The Chief Secretary had also stated that if any men would not work with members of another union, those refusing to do so would be paid off. The Superintendent of Mains had also stated that it was competent for members of the Government General Workers' Union to be employed on the job. "The decision of the A.W.U. men not to work with our members was not unanimous," added Mr. Niess, "and I understand that it took a lot of persuasion to get some of them to pull out."

Liability of Soldiers' Female Dependants.

The number of enquiries received by "The Advertiser" (S.A.) respecting the rights of female dependants of soldiers under the active service moratorium indicates that there is a good deal of uncertainty concerning the liability of, for instance, a soldier's wife to pay debts incurred before or since the enlistment of the husband. There appears to be a widespread belief that the moratorium protects female dependants of all soldiers against legal processes for the recovery of any debts, but this is not the case. The active service moratorium provides that where loans secured by mortgage of land have been contracted by a member of the oversea forces, or a female dependant of a member before the date on which he enlisted, or before January 1, 1916, the repayment of principal may be postponed until six months after the war. The repayment of a debt secured by mortgage by such persons may be similarly postponed. Further, it is provided that no person shall, under bill of sale or writ of execution, or other process issued by a court, or by way of distress, or under the provisions of a hire purchase agreement made before January 1, 1916, or the date of enlistment, seize chattels used by a female dependant of a member of the forces to support or assist in supporting herself or any of the family of the soldier, or any furniture or wearing apparel in value up to £50.

Farmers and Politics, S.A.

A special meeting of the council of the S.A. Farmers' and Settlers' Association was held recently to consider a request made by Mr. E. E. Craig (organiser) on behalf of certain newly-formed branches that the association should become a political organisation and run candidates for Parliament. Mr. Craig said many farmers were greatly dissatisfied with the Liberal and Labour Parties, who, they contended, were not giving the country and the farmers a fair deal. He stated that both Liberal and Labour Ministers constituting the Central Wheat Board had insulted farmers by refusing to recognise their claim to direct representation on the Wheat Board, which was to give farmers some say in the management of their own business. Farmers also contended that rural and other national problems were to a large extent being made subservient to strong metropolitan interests. It was decided that the secretary should bring the matter before the branches for consideration.

The Leader of the Russian Women's Battalion of Death with her Recruits.

This photograph, which has just reached England, shows Mrs. Pankhurst, the English feminist leader, with Madam Botchkarevi and her women soldiers. Madam Botchkarevi is the leader of the Women's Battalion of Death, and was wounded in the recent fighting on the Eastern Front.

Yarns from "Sydney Bulletin."

An ultimatum from the "Emmaville Argus" (N.S.W.);—

Notice.—No man shall have Doris Lilian — until she is 21 years of age, they have to wait 3 years and 5 months.

W. E. —.

The Commonwealth the other day very nearly got some blessed relief from the wrangling of Parliament. One Nationalist, who was put up on the Returned Soldier ticket and almost won in an apparently hopeless district, is that rare subject, a dysentery carrier.

"Petifi": Grafton (N.S.W.) handled some sizable local ironbark lately. One vegetable cut up 44ft. long, and squared to 22in. Three trees panned out at £92. The timber is intended for warship construction in America.

A. H. W. Cunningham, Chairman of the Wangaratta Shire Council, has been in Brisbane arranging with Minister for Lands Hunter for the opening up of 170,000 acres of good pastoral country on the Suttor River to start returned men at cattle-raising. Already the Bowen people have got enough stock on hand to give the project a decent start, and the fencing of 10,000 acres is to be put through right away. The show is to be run on a co-operative basis, all the soldier-workers whacking the profits, which are expected to start arriving in less than 12 months.

"Bromide": "Montalex" (B. 12/4/17) is quite off the rails when he judges the potency of snake venom by the rate at which it knocks a man out. What counts in these cases is the rapidity with which the poison enters the circulation and its concentration. For example, a small dose of toxin injected directly into a vein is fatal much more quickly than a larger dose of a stronger poison which is only gradually absorbed into the circulation. The sting of a wasp has caused death in 15 minutes when introduced straight into the circulation, yet this poison is sufficient to cause only a local reaction as a rule. When an experienced out-backer is bitten by a snake he does three things—places a ligature round the limb on the proximal side of the bite, scarifies the wound and rubs in potassium permanganate crystals. The object of the ligature is to prevent the toxin entering the general circulation;

The Scot (in confiding mood): Mon, I've been a reckless young deevil in me day. I had a fine chance in life an' wasted it. An auld aunt died and left me five pounds, an'—would ye believe it, mon?—I'd blewed the whole lot in seven years!
Drawn by LAWSON WOOD.

the second operation is to drain the blood out of the adjacent veins and with it any toxin that has been absorbed. The crystals act chemically by oxidising the venoni into a less toxic body.

"268": "E.S.S." has confused Jack Howe's shearing figures. Here is the authentic record of his marvellous prowess with the blades and his creditable first attempt with the machines. He shored 321 sheep in eight (8) hours at Alice Downs in the year 1892, and for this received a 10-guinea medal from Coleman and Sons, Cootamundra (N.S.W.), for the colonial eight-hour record. The same year he barbered 237 at Barcaldine Downs in eight hours with the machines—this being his first shed with the machines. A five-guinea medal from the same firm was his award. In 1904 Howe was behind the bar at the Barcoo Hotel, not, as "E.S.S." states, doing the 337 in 7hr. 20min. at Alice Downs. In five days Howe shored 1,437 in his ordinary working manner. That puts Livingstone's 1,153 for a week's sustained effort in the shade. Jack Howe is the only man who ever could rightly be called a champion—he outclassed and beat all others time and again.

War Honours for the A.I.F.

The following awards have been gazetted:—

Distinguished Service Order.

Major Archdale George Bolingbroke, Cav.

He showed great dash and initiative in leading troops forward to the capture of a hostile artillery observation post, afterwards taking an active part in a bayonet charge against enemy trenches.

Major Donald Charles Cameron, Cav.

During an advance over difficult ground he showed great skill in keeping touch with the brigade on his left, afterwards leading his squadron in a bayonet charge against the enemy trenches, thus enabling two captured enemy guns to be removed.

Major Edwin Theyer Dean, Arty.

He displayed the greatest fearlessness and gallantry in personally extinguishing three serious fires amongst his gun-pits and ammunition, working at the imminent risk of his own life. The following night he returned to a building which had just been wrecked by shell fire to search for missing men amongst the débris, thereby displaying a spirit of devotion towards his unit which has always been noticeable.

Lieut. Alexander Mac Neil, L.T.M. By.

He handled his mortar with great courage and determination against an overwhelming attack. He held off the enemy with his revolver until his men had got the mortar away to safety. He then took part in the counter-attack, and did great execution with a machine-gun.

Capt. Richard Williams, Flying Corps.

Flying at a low altitude under intense anti-aircraft fire, he attacked and dispersed enemy troops who were concentrating on our flank. On another occasion, whilst on a reconnaissance, he landed in the enemy's lines and rescued a pilot of a machine which had been brought down by hostile fire.

The Military Cross.

Capt. Percy George Rupert Parkes, M.C. Infy.

He led his company in the assault, and established a series of strong posts on his unprotected flank, thus saving the advanced waves from being cut off. Later, when in temporary command of the battalion, he did good work during an enemy counter-attack. (M.C. gazetted June 4, 1917.)

Distinguished Conduct Medal.

1712 Pte. J. R. Atkins, Infy.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. When his corporal was wounded he took charge of his section and bombed the enemy continually for two hours, capturing 50 yards of trench. Throughout he controlled the men with splendid courage, and set a fine example.

4059 Pte. W. J. Barry, Imp. Cam. Corps.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. Although wounded and the sole remaining member of his team, he continued to work his Lewis gun from an isolated position, inflicting considerable casualties on the enemy. When ordered to withdraw he carried the gun out of action himself.

2329 Sgt. S. F. Bass, Infy.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. During an enemy advance and bombing attack he supervised three Lewis guns, and then organised and maintained the supply of bombs to our bombing party. He carried grenades over 500 yards through heavy shell-fire.

92 Sgt. A. C. Baulch, Infy.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion when in charge of a working party. He repulsed a counter-attack with heavy loss, displaying courage and initiative at a critical juncture.

4155 Cpl. H. A. Black, Infy.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He was in charge of a post in the front line. Owing to heavy shelling a number of men became buried. He showed great courage and determination in rescuing them and digging them out. Although he himself was buried whilst doing this he was rescued and continued with his task. He succeeded in rescuing ten men under heavy shell fire.

1922 Cpl. H. J. Bull, Infy.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. When acting as medical orderly he, on his own initiative, moved forward during the action to the front line. He carried medical stores through heavy artillery fire, where he attended wounded in the open trench under severe conditions.

1733 Pte. A. L. Carlson, Infy.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He showed the utmost coolness and courage as a bearer under heavy fire. He made repeated journeys in front, bringing in wounded. On his last journey he was wounded while getting a man back. In spite of this he succeeded in crawling in, dragging the wounded man with him.

1666 Pte. C. Clutterbuck, Infy.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He was in charge of a bombing attack which was held up by machine-gun fire. He alone jumped on the parapet and advanced within bombing range, and succeeded in killing many of the enemy and forcing the remainder to retire, thus enabling our men to advance.

3268 Cpl. P. Q. J. Collins, Infy.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. When the enemy were heavily bombing his post he went alone over the parapet, and with great dash bombed the enemy from their position and saved many casualties.

4609 L.-Cpl. V. Dearden, Infy.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He led his bombing section with great dash and initiative. After heavy fighting he captured the position, inflicting severe loss on the enemy. Throughout the day he set a splendid example to his men.

1855 Sgt. H. J. Fowles, Infy.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. When the enemy gained a temporary footing in our line he showed great courage and dash in organising a counter-attack. He drove the enemy completely from our position and inflicted severe losses on them.

1110 Sgt. G. A. C. Gardiner, Infy.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He took command of a raiding party when the officer was killed, and led them through intense rifle and machine-gun fire until compelled to take shelter in shell holes. He remained for some time attending to the wounded, later working his way back to the front line, and personally conducting stretcher parties to bring in the dead and wounded men. By his courage and resourcefulness he set a splendid example.

793 Sgt. W. Greaves, Infy.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He took command of his platoon during the advance, and after hard fighting succeeded in taking the enemy strong post. He finally captured 200 yards of the enemy trench, when under great difficulty he established a strong post, which he held until relieved.

1530 L.-Cpl. J. Ham, Infy.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. During a hostile raid he handled his Lewis gun with great courage and ability. He, with one other man, succeeded in accounting for five of the enemy, who were the only party who gained a footing in our trench.

2142 L.-Cpl. W. Harrington, Infy.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. During the attack he volunteered as bayonet man when the other men had become casualties, and followed up the bombing attack with great courage. Although wounded he still continued, and later threw bombs under heavy machine-gun fire until exhausted.

733 Sgt. L. S. Holmes, L.H. Regt.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. When moving with the advanced cavalry screen he and his section captured the G.O.C. of an enemy division, his staff, and seventeen other ranks. They also pursued a party of the enemy and took twenty prisoners. His work was particularly good during this operation.

181 C.S.M. J. Horsburgh, Infy

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion in action. When the officers became casualties he took command of the company, led them forward, displaying great coolness and courage.

2607 L.-Cpl. A. Hudson, Infy.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He was in charge of the extreme right post of our line, which the enemy attacked heavily, driving out the garrison with bombs. He alone reorganised the remaining men of his section, and, leading them back to the post, re-established it, capturing and killing twenty of the enemy. He was severely wounded.

153 Sgt. G. C. Hunt, Infy.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He led his platoon forward in an attack with great coolness and courage, and although twice wounded assisted to evacuate the wounded, resuming his command after his own wounds had been dressed.

144 Gnr. W. A. A. Jones, Arty.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. Although wounded early in the day he remained at duty and assisted to lay a telephone line, remaining at a relay post in a shell-hole for nine and a-half hours. Although a second time wounded he displayed great courage and disregard of danger in bringing back important messages from the infantry Commander.

825 Sgt. R. H. Lewis, L.H. Fld. Amb.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He repeatedly took his bearers up to the firing line under very heavy fire, and was of great assistance in clearing a large number of casualties. By his willingness and gallant conduct he set a splendid example to the men under him.

4162 Sgt. A. Millar, Infy.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion in an attack, when he took command of several groups whose officers were casualties, and made a series of most valuable bomb attacks, during which he was seriously wounded.

212 Sgt. (T. S.S.M.) E. A. Mulford, L.H. Regt.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty in rallying his squadron and holding a position under very heavy fire, when all his officers had been put out of action.

931 Cpl. J. North, L.T.M. Bty

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. When the enemy made a strong counter-attack, he worked his gun with great courage until the enemy were within ten yards of his position. He covered the retreat of his men, carrying the mortar, with bombs, and by his gallantry and coolness succeeded in saving the gun and crew.

5172 Pte. H. T. Palmer, Infy.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. During a hostile attack a Lewis gun was knocked out of action, the crew becoming casualties, and the trench occupied by the enemy. He, though wounded at the time, managed to secure the gun and got it into action again, inflicting many losses on the enemy, who by this time were retreating. He continued to serve his gun single-handed until wounded a second time.

5448 Sgt. W. A. Porter, Infy.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He handled his platoon with great dash and initiative. When his men were held up by a heavy bombing attack, he reorganised his platoon with great dash, drove the enemy back, killing and capturing many prisoners. He also took 200 yards of trench, where he established a strong post, which he held.

2660 Sgt. N. Pulham, L.T.M. Bty.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He was detailed to take the battery into the line to relieve another brigade. He arrived in time to join in the bombing operations, and with sheer disregard for danger and great promptness did much to break down the enemy resistance. Throughout he showed great courage and was a splendid example to his men.

27267 Gnr. C. J. Robinson, Arty.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. Together with a comrade he entered a burning ammunition dump and extricated the sergeant in charge of his party, who had been badly wounded, from under the burning boxes of ammunition. They carried him to a place of safety in spite of the fact that the dump was under hostile shell fire and that gas shells were exploding.

553 L.-Cpl. R. B. Roy, Infy.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. When in charge of a section of a raiding party, he controlled his men with wonderful coolness and ability. He led them to the attack of two large dug-outs, both of which were successfully bombed, and his initiative and personal example brought his portion of the raid to a successful conclusion.

5087 Sgt. C. L. Russell, Infy.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. After being twice wounded, he led his platoon to an assault with great courage and determination until disabled by a third wound. He still continued to encourage his men on.

2336 Sgt. S. N. Telfer, Infy.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. While relief of the front line was in progress the enemy were seen massing for an attack. He promptly assumed command of the men about him. He directed the machine-gun and rifle fire with such accuracy that the attack was beaten off. He fought with the foremost bombers until finally wounded.

957 Sgt. C. J. Veitch, Infy.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. When in command of 25 men and two Lewis guns he repelled the enemy from our front line. During a second attempt by the enemy, one gun and crew being knocked out, he proceeded to dig out two men who were buried, when he himself was buried by a shell. On being extricated he succeeded in digging out these men, and in spite of seven casualties to the party he successfully repelled a third attack by the enemy.

10789 Gnr. H. F. Walker, Arty.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. At a critical time, when his battery was under hostile shell fire, he displayed the greatest gallantry and initiative in assisting his battery commander to save guns and ammunition from a fire. During the whole of this time the ammunition was exploding, but he continued to work regardless of his own safety until the fire was extinguished.

1749 Sgt. (now 2nd Lt.) A. E. Whitear, Infy.

For conspicuous gallantry and ability in an attack. After all officers had become casualties, he assumed command of his company, and held the position until ordered to retire.

3132 Pte. E. Williams, Infy.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. Although wounded, and a section of the trench had been captured, he calmly continued to send through the S.O.S. signal, thereby enabling the brigade to call down the S.O.S. barrage without delay.

(To be continued.)

Furlough Pay for the A.I.F. from France and Egypt.

The "Anzac Bulletin" has been supplied by the Chief Paymaster, A.I.F., with the full text of an Order on the above subject, as follows:—

"696.—FURLOUGH PAY FOR MEN FROM FRANCE AND EGYPT WITHOUT FUNDS."

It has been represented that, through no fault of their own, some men of good conduct are unable to proceed on leave as they have not the requisite credit balance in their Pay Books to defray the expense involved. The case of a married private who has an allotment of 4s. per day is specially cited, but there are other cases equally deserving. This does not, however, include men who, with ordinary care and foresight, should be able to save and provide funds for leave purposes.

In order to permit of leave being granted to deserving cases, the procedure outlined below will be followed in each case:—

- 1.—Applications for leave in the prescribed form (Appendix I attached) from men without funds will be carefully considered by the Commanding Officers.
- 2.—The C.O.'s will make recommendations thereon to the Headquarters of the formation to which they belong.

3.—The Paymaster attached to the Headquarters will assess an amount to be advanced, which must not exceed £10, and which amount will be advanced as an overdraft against the soldier's active pay; he (the Paymaster) will also issue an advice note to the soldier which will be presented for payment to the Chief Paymaster, A.I.F., 130, Horseferry Road, London, unless the soldier is not proceeding to London, in which case the advance will be made by the Paymaster in France.

4.—A Commanding Officer is not to recommend applications for approval when:—

- (a) The soldier has a net drawing rate of 2s. per diem or upwards.
- (b) The soldier, although on a small net rate, has an allotment to a bank or person who is not dependent upon him.
- (c) The soldier, through his own misconduct, has not the necessary funds.
- (d) The soldier has had leave within the preceding 12 months.

5.—An advance so made will be clearly entered by Paymaster as such in the soldier's Pay Book, also an entry placing him on a reduced drawing rate until the advance is liquidated, will be made therein.

6.—Commanding Officers are to clearly understand that this Order does not authorise them to make advances to men under any circumstances, and that it only applies to men on furlough from France and Egypt."

(Authority: A.A.G., A.I.F., 26/203 of 3.6.17.)

This matter was mentioned in our issue of August 1st, in an unofficial communication from Australia, the point of which was to announce that the result of Order 696 had been to stop a large drain of money from Australia in the shape of cabled remittances to soldiers abroad from their relatives. In that paragraph, however, the limits of the Order were not fully defined, and the complete text is now published to clear up any misapprehension that may have arisen.

New South Wales gold returns for July show an output of 11,000 ounces, valued at £44,000, as compared with 6,000 ounces, valued at £23,000, in the corresponding month of last year.

KIT THE CRYSTALLISED COMMON-SENSE of SOLDIERING

BRITISH Officers have always been famous for the solid, workmanlike quality of the kits with which they went to war. Getting your kit from Thresher & Glenny means getting it from a firm which has done more than any other to build that reputation—witness the far-famed Thresher Trench Coat, the biggest tailoring triumph of the war: Thresher & Glenny's triumph.

The practical common-sense of soldiering crystallises down into kit, and it needs no arguing that for sterling quality you cannot do better than go to the old-fashioned up-to-date firm which made officers' kits for Waterloo and is making them to-day for a thousand miles of fighting front.

SPORTING NOTES.

Sabrina, First Lesson and Silent Way filled the places in the Winter Stakes at Randwick. Glenquinn won the Steeplechase. The attendance was estimated at 35,000.

The Holiday Handicap at Newcastle was won by Amadia, with Simkanic and Pounce second and third.

Glad Eye won the Alderman Cup at the Adelaide Birthday meeting. Five horses fell in the Dulwich Hurdle, and Royal Precedent ran off.

The Broken Hill Jockey Club's June race meeting was poorly attended as a result of a boycott by the Labour Volunteer Army.

There were 25,000 people at the opening of the A.J.C. Winter meeting at Randwick, when Greek Fire and Lord Cecil won the jumping double.

From 1871, the horses trained by the Victorian mentor, Walter Hickenbotham, have won in stakes close upon £200,000—a fine record.

In the Brush Steeplechase at Epsom (Victoria), Pink Lady fractured her pastern, and had to be destroyed; while Chuquisaca injured his stifle through colliding with the fence at the gap on entering the straight. Pink Lady was a five-year-old mare by St. Alwyne, owned and trained by J. Stevenson.

The enterprise of Mr. E. J. Watt in bringing over Bunting from New Zealand for the Brisbane Cup was well rewarded, as the son of All Black defeated the Queensland crack, Demeranthis, and ran the journey in the good time of 3.28½, considering he had 9.7 on his back. Eastcourt was third, and Mr. Seaton must have been well satisfied with his trip with the Earlston colt.

Prior to riding two seconds on June 4th, H. Treen had had four wins in five rides over hurdles and fences at Randwick. Beginning with the Old Mungindi steeple double at the Autumn meeting, he won Tatt.'s hurdles on King Mostyn. On June 2nd he missed a place on the same horse, but subsequently won the steeple on Lord Cecil.

WORK OF THE AUSTRALIAN RED CROSS.

A Special Correspondent writes:—

The work of the Australian Red Cross in England has grown out of all proportion to expectation, even of comparatively recent times. As the A.I.F. in the different theatres of war has increased, so has the work of the Red Cross in seeing to the comfort of the sick and wounded and the prisoners of war. When Australia took her place in the line in France, the principal centre of Red Cross activity naturally shifted from Cairo to London, while the nature of the fighting on the Western Front, with its attendant greater number of casualties of all sorts, has rendered necessary the creation of an organisation more widespread than could have been foreseen.

One consequence of this great expansion not exhausted, it is hoped that an offer to meet the needs of the Australian Red Cross in this regard may be forthcoming. Given a building of sufficient size to house the whole of the staff, the question of location is not such a vital one. But if it is a question of transferring part of the staff, it is essential that new premises be obtained within convenient distance of the present Headquarters at 54 Victoria Street.

Attention has recently been drawn in these columns to the increase in the number of Australian prisoners in Germany, following on the participation of the A.I.F. in numerous enterprises at the Front, recorded and unrecorded. The Australian Red Cross Society sends parcels of food to all the Australians who are reported to have been taken prisoner, and it of the work of alleviating the horrors of war is that the London Headquarters has practically outgrown its offices. The Commissioner and his staff, numbering fully one hundred, occupy at 54, Victoria Street no fewer than eighteen rooms, and the limit of accommodation has been reached. It has now become necessary either to seek fresh quarters or to secure in the neighbourhood of the present offices a small house which could be used as an annexe where one of the Departments, such as the Missing and Wounded Inquiry Bureau, could be placed. The ideal solution of the difficulty would be the acquisition of a house of suitable size which would allow of the whole of the Headquarters organisation being accommodated under one roof. If the generosity of the philanthropic is is in order that work of this character may be carried on efficiently that extension of premises is required. It may also be mentioned that the holiday season, combined with the growing pressure of the work, have made it necessary again to appeal for further assistance from those who have time to give in a good cause.

Of the winners at Randwick, on the first day of the A.J.C. Winter Meeting, four scored their first headquarters success this season. They were the first four—Greek Fire, Sabrina, Lord Cecil and Lord Windermere; while all but Sabrina had had no win on any course. Of the second day's winners, West Molong, Glenquinn, and Gallipoli scored their first Randwick success.

TIME PROVES EVERYTHING

ONE of the early disasters of the war was the loss of H.M.S. "Goliath," and references of considerable interest to the public will be found in "The Immortal Gamble," written by a Naval Officer and recently published by A. and C. Black, Ltd.

One paragraph of the Author's description of the "Goliath" disaster brings to light a fact for public knowledge. It reads:

"Tugs, trawlers, and boats were cruising in every direction trying to pick up survivors, many of whom were carried on a strong current for a great distance. A Midshipman, upheld by his 'Give' Waistcoat, was picked up still breathing two days later, but his exhaustion was such that he could not be brought round. Several officers were also saved after floating about for many hours in an unconscious condition."

This was two years ago, and during this period time has proved again and again that the

is the one reliable means of life-saving in case of sudden disaster at sea by submarines or mines. Worn as an ordinary waistcoat—inflated in a few seconds—fitted with brandy flask and sold everywhere to-day at 50/- net.

For Reliability and Excellence of Quality

GAMAGE'S

THE G.H.Q. OF ARMY OUTFITTING.

There are Trench Coats and Trench Coats, but ONLY ONE
GAMAGE SUMMER TRENCHER

and thanks to its superlative qualities as a "Service" garment it has proved a huge success. Officers who have tested its merits are recommending it to others in all quarters as a model of durability and perfect comfort in Military wear.

The Gamage Summer Trencher is a SCIENTIFIC PRODUCTION

inasmuch as the fabric used in its construction is scientifically treated to ensure the maximum degree of rain resistance. Then too, it is cut and made on scientific principles.

Its extreme lightness is another point in its favour.
Lined same material as outside of coat & interlined oilskin.
