Reds Agree To Leave Iran in May

TEHERAN, April 5 (AP)—The Iranian government announced that Iranian Premier Qavam es Sultaneh and the Soviet ambassador signed an agreement today that Soviet troops will evacuate Iran "unconditionally" within six weeks from March 24. The agreement also provided that a proposal for a Russo-Iranian oil company would be presented to the Iranian parliament within the next seven months and that the Azerbaijan problem would be recognized as "purely internal."

TEXT OF COMMUNIQUE

Text of the Iranian communique follows:
 "Negotiations begun in Moscow between the prime minister of Iran and Soviet authorities were continued in Teheran after his return and the arrival of the Soviet ambassador.
 "These negotiations ended April 4, 1946, and complete agreement was reached on all questions:
 "1—Red army troops will evacuate all Iranian territory within one and one half month from March 24, 1946.
 "2—An agreement for formation of a joint Iranian-Soviet oil company and its terms will be submitted to the 50th majlis (parliament) for its approval within seven month after March 24.
 "3—With regard to Azerbaijan, since it is an internal Iranian affair,

Smith Delivers Letter to Stalin

MOSCOW, April 5 (AP)—Gen. W. Bedell Smith, U.S. ambassador to Russia, delivered a letter from President Truman to Generalissimo Stalin and held a two-hour talk with the Russian leader in the Kremlin late yesterday, it was announced today.
 "Stalin was very courteous and very agreeable and it was a highly satisfactory visit," Smith said.
 Smith did not repeat nor disclose the contents of President Truman's letter, but it was believed to be merely a courtesy greeting from one state head to another.

Naval Force Greets Army

FRANKFURT, April 5—Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, theater commander, today received the following message from the commander of the U.S. Naval forces in Germany:
 "On the occasion of Army Day, April 6, I wish on behalf of those of us in the Navy who have the honor to serve under you to extend to you and the Army cordial greetings and best wishes."
 The message was signed by Vice Adm. William Glassford.

Petiot Guilty; Faces Death

PARIS, April 5 (AP)—Dr. Marcel Petiot was condemned to die for 27 murders and 24 robberies after he was found guilty late last night in a sensational mass murder trial.
 After two and a half hours deliberation by the jury, Presiding Magistrate Marcel Leser announced the verdict that Petiot had been found guilty of most of the murders.
 Petiot rose, looked directly at his brother, and cried: "I must be avenged!"
 Petiot later said that he was pinning great hopes on a reversal of the decision. He has three days to file an appeal. Rene Floriot, defense attorney, said that certain indiscreet statements of several of the jurors might be sufficient grounds on which to base an appeal.
 After Prosecutor Pierre Dupin had called Petiot the monster of the Rue Lesueur, Floriot startled the court with the statement that 27 persons in the case had disappeared since the doctor's arrest—as many as he was accused of murdering.
 An hour after the delivery of the verdict—one of the largest murder convictions in history—the court continued in session without a jury to hear the civil damage claims.

Spanish Note Sent U.S. About French Border

WASHINGTON, April 5 (AP)—The U.S. has received a note from Spain dealing with the situation on the Spanish-French border, the State Department disclosed.
 The department, however, has not received a third communication from France on the subject of Spain, Michael J. McDermott, special assistant to the Secretary of State, told a news conference.

Lichfield Heads Deny Whitewash

BULLETIN
 FRANKFURT, April 5—Maj. Gen. Withers A. Burress, theater inspector general, left today for London to initiate investigation into the proceedings of the Lichfield trial. Burress is making the investigation on behalf of Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, theater commander. He will be assisted by a staff of legal experts.

By JOE MACKAY
 Staff Correspondent

LONDON, April 5—Petition by the defense for removal of Maj. Benito Gaguine, law member of the court, was denied today as the "Second Lichfield Trial" completed its second day amid sharp exchanges between court members and defense counsel, and denial by the staff judge advocate, London area office, of any attempts at "whitewashing the officers in the case."

Maj. Richard D. Kearney, staff judge advocate of the London area, was chief witness of the day, testifying that he had "no understanding with my commanding officer with respect to whitewashing the officers in the case." He stated:
 "This command is determined to try the cases with all the available evidence."

Truman Demands Strong U.S. Forces

WASHINGTON, April 5 (AP)—President Truman drafted a firm Army Day warning to the U.S. today to maintain powerful armed forces during the experimental years of the UNO.
 President Truman is leaving for Chicago this evening where in Soldier Field tomorrow he will deliver an address enunciating American foreign policy.
 Presidential associates regard the address as a followup of his Navy Day speech of last October in which he outlined a 12-point foreign policy.

MacArthur Seeks War Outlawing

WASHINGTON, April 5 (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur advocates that all nations "abolish war as a sovereign right"
 In a speech at the first session of the four-power council for Japan in Tokyo, as released by the War Department here tonight, the supreme commander pointed to Japan's renunciation of war in its proposed new constitution and recommended the idea for the "thoughtful consideration of all peoples of the world."
 He declared, "it points the way and the only way. The United Nations Organization, admirable as is its purpose, great and noble as are its aims, can only survive to achieve that purpose and those aims if it accomplishes with all nations just what Japan proposes unilaterally to abolish war as a sovereign right."

WARNS OF ATOM BOMB

MacArthur asserted that such renunciation must be "simultaneous and universal," and added "it must be effected by an open, undisguised action which invites the confidence of all men who would serve the cause of peace."
 With the atom bomb obviously in mind, he warned that "another war may blast mankind to perdition."

Typhoon Hits In Philippines

MANILA, April 5 (AP)—The U.S. Navy said today a typhoon is crossing northern Luzon with winds of full hurricane force prevailing in the straits between Luzon and Formosa. The storm, produced 35-foot waves in Manila Bay.
 A U.S. Army tug was forced onto a reef at the entrance to San Fernando Harbor, the commander of the Army base on Lingayen Gulf reported. The personnel was saved.
 The barometer was said to be falling steadily and winds increased at San Fernando which is one of the Army installations nearest the storm center.
 (Tiny tidal waves 3 inches high and 15 miles apart were recorded

Violence Reported In 3 Spanish Towns

MADRID, April 5 (AP)—Violence and unrest were reported today from Barcelona, Tarrasa and Granada.
 In Barcelona it was learned that police made a number of arrests for "extremest" political view. In Tarrasa, a textile center, an unexploded bomb was reported to have been found in the Falange Party headquarters. Reports from Granada said that one villager was killed when three armed men stole a quantity of hams and money from a shop.
 From Madrid came unconfirmed reports that Generalissimo Franco plans to remove most or all of his Falange cabinet ministers.

Regent's Quitting Reported

ATHENS, April 5 (AP)—It was reliably reported today that Archbishop Damaskinos, the Greek regent, offered his resignation in a letter to Premier Poulitzas.

Liquor Rations

In our old outfit we were given our liquor ration to drink as we pleased. In our present outfit, our battalion commander issued an order that all liquor would be sold over the bar of our battalion club.

-5 Signatures

Editor's note: As we understand it, the disposition of the monthly liquor ration is entirely at the discretion of an organization's CO. The decision to pool the ration, or to give it out individually, is his. The practice of selling it over the bar has been found to insure a more equal distribution. In months where the ration would not be sufficient to give each man even a full bottle, individual sales through a club have proved to be most satisfactory.

Forgotten Captain

Are the old officers forgotten? I am 46 years old, with 33 months service and 48 points. I was in the last war for 16 months, and was wounded and gassed. My two daughters are just over the age to give me point credit. My railroad battalion finished its job, and went back to the States last November. I am stuck here doing a job, new to me, which I am sure can be covered by many other officers.

-R. G. H.

Editor's Note: This letter was referred to GI, which replied: "The captain will be separated on board ship returning to the U. S. by Aug. 31."

Two Scarred Bars

If but four years in grade is required to apply for membership in your exhausted organization, "Two Scarred Bars," then I would like to do so now. I am well into my fifth year. Because of TO's, change of organization, or other causes, I have consistently "missed the boat." I have long since believed that I had qualified as a "professional captain." Sometimes it appears that there just "ain't no justice" in the world.

-Railroad Tracks

Editor's Note: You get to join OK, Railroad Tracks, but why not attempt to qualify as a "professional major!"

Il Duce's Family Lives Quietly in Exile

DONNA RACHELE MUSSOLINI, wife of Italy's Mussolini's are living in enforced exile on the former Fascist leader, is shown here with her two island of Ischia, where the mother does all her own children, Anna Maria, 16, and Romano, 17. The housework. She seldom mixes with society.

His Widow Retains Boardinghouse Principles

ROME (INS)—Donna Rachele Mussolini, the ill-fated widow of Il Duce, who started life in a boarding house and became, mistress of a Roman palace, but who, after the war, was thrown into a concentration camp, is living in enforced exile on the beautiful island of Ischia.

Beneath the surface, however, her life has changed little, if at all.

The setting is different, but Donna Rachele is still leading the same bourgeois housewifely existence that she did when many years ago, she married the struggling young radical newspaperman.

All her life, whether living in the boarding houses of her youth or the famous Roman palazzo given to her during Mussolini's days of glory, she has looked after the house herself. She has done the cooking, house-cleaning and cared for the children, even when she had servants at her beck-and-call.

Donna Rachele was the Italian ideal of a housewife. Politics were of no interest to her. She did not care about society and rarely ever moved from her own fireside.

Today, in enforced exile, she is still living quietly with two of her children, doing the housework, seemingly oblivious of her surroundings for she seldom leaves the house, except at night, for even a breath of air.

The two children—Romano and Anna Maria on the other hand, have become very much at home in Ischia and are thoroughly enjoying the sports and out-door life of the island.

Romano, like many other Italian boys, runs about in an Allied Army uniform dyed dark green, he is crazy about automobiles. His one great passion in life is the harmonica which he will play any time—without urging.

And, fortunately for Romano, he has found an eager, enthusiastic audience in the Allied soldiers at the rest camp nearby. Frequently they invite him over to their quarters when in the mood for singing.

This contact with Americans has resulted in Sister Anna Maria's newfound loves—American cigarettes and chewing gum. Therefore, Anna Maria is well-pleased with her brother's accomplishment for he is sure to return from his musical evenings laden with cigarettes and gum from the friendly GI.

The islanders have displayed little interest in the family of Italy's former dictator and, excepting for a few curious Allied soldiers, they have been left alone.

35 Million-Kroner Airline to Start

NEW YORK, (AP)—The formation of a 35 million-kroner (approximately 16 million dollars) Norwegian airline, Det. Norake Luftfartselakap, by a former Norwegian airline and a group of 12 Norwegian shipping companies has been announced.

The managing director said DNL would begin operations on the Continent by mid-May, but could not begin transatlantic flights until equipment was procured, possibly in June. The transatlantic services will be in co-operation with Swedish and Danish airlines.

Swede Army Officers To See Swiss Methods

LONDON (AP)—Stockholm radio reported that a mission of Swedish officers is leaving for Switzerland "to study relations between officers and other ranks in the Swiss army."

The mission later will go to France, and Belgium the radio said.

One in Eight Has VD

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—In the first report on a mass venereal disease survey, Dr. Walter H. Miles, city health commissioner, said one out of eight persons examined in the city blood testing stations has either syphilis or gonorrhea.

Yanks Attend More Shows

FRANKFURT—The GI movie audience in the ETO has doubled since last year, Maj. Gen. A. R. Bolling, theater chief of Special Service announced recently. The average number of shows a soldier saw per month rose from seven and one half in July to 15 in February. The increased attendance is attributed to the replacement of many 16-MM projectors by 35-MM projectors.

Forty per cent of the men in this theater now have 35-MM facilities at their disposal, and it is expected that the majority of shows in the near future will use the larger projectors, according to the Motion Picture Service Section of the Theater Special Services.

Apart from movies, over 277,000 men attended USO Camp Shows and Soldier Shows in February.

Ten New Army Bands To Be Formed in ETO

FRANKFURT—Plans for the immediate activation of 10 separate military bands have been approved by the WD, it was announced by the office of Maj. Gen. A. R. Bolling, theater chief of Special Services.

Each band will contain 28 men, led by a WO. Members will be recruited from personnel in this theater, and will be assigned to the constabulary.

"She's just trying to arouse our sympathy."

GIs Toil and Moil Amid Ruins of Fuehrer's Fiasco

By MAX GROSSMAN, Staff Correspondent

"It isn't the war that gets me down, boss. It's that duration that I'm scared of."
(Rochester to Jack Benny)

Well, here it is Army Day again and the boys are smack in the middle of that duration stuff. Legally, the war isn't over yet. The Axis powers have surrendered unconditionally, but neither the President nor the Congress has declared the war's emergency to be at an end. And, as of today, plans for a peace conference to be held in Paris on May 1 seem to have gone agley.

What the American soldier thinks about on this Army Day is hard to tell. Nobody has made a current survey of GI opinion—and perhaps that's just as well since most soldiers have indefinable and unclassifiable opinions. For that matter, it's difficult to find an "average GI" today.

Redeployment Program Proves Highly Successful

Last year on Army Day there were slightly more than 3,069,000 troops in the theater. Obviously, during the late fall and winter, redeployment was the one matter of paramount interest to ETO men.

As of today, the topic is still interesting, but most GIs and their officers know approximately when and under what conditions they will be returned to ZI. There have been incredible and inexcusable snafus at reple deplees but, viewed objectively the Army's redeployment program has been a magnificent success. A year ago on Army Day there were more than three million men in the ETO; by July 1, 1946, there will be, according to present plans, approximately 300,000 soldiers here.

That is the greatest redeployment achievement in military history, and now that millions of GIs are at home, they will probably concede that the Army's overall job was astonishingly successful.

(If you want another statistic, note this one: A year ago there were 8,000 Wacs in the theater; today, there are 1,400.)

Gen. McNarney Will Speak On Frankfurt Program

So it's Army Day. There will be a brief show at Frankfurt where Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, theater commander, will speak. A year ago, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower was running the show.

Last year, on Army Day, the following armies were in combat: First, Hodges; Seventh, Patch; Third, Patton; Ninth, Simpson; Fifteenth, Gerow. Last week with the deactivation of the Seventh, only one Army remains—the Third, Lt. Gen. Lucian Truscott, commanding.

Army Day! There will be a terrific all-day show at Wiesbaden. Even the folks back home won't be able to do a better job, not when you remember that Wiesbaden is planning a parade, review, unveiling of

The whole business will wind up with a fireworks exhibition. A year ago—on Army Day—there were plenty of fireworks of another sort.

Within a few weeks or months, the vast majority of the GIs in the theater will be boys "who never heard a shot fired in anger."

They're having a big Army Day show in Vienna, too—where the largest musicale ever to be presented in the ETO will be staged by Theater Special Services.

All of Europe a Pageant, And Yanks are Part of Show

But all of Europe is a pageant now—and it may well be that U. S. troops here, since they are part of the cast, can't see the show because of the props.

Between the current and past Army Days, the Army has moved nearly 3,000,000 displaced persons back to their homelands. The Army has, in the meantime, sheltered, fed and clothed these people. All this with one hand while, with the other, it has sent more than 2,500,000 soldiers back home.

Just a year ago, on Army Day, U. S. troops released 1,200 American PWs from a ghastly mountain top camp at Bad Orb, located midway between Frankfurt and Fulda. When released, the Americans cried with joy.

In the same camp at Bad Orb today are 1,200 displaced Czech-Germans. There is a sign on the camp gate which current GIs do not find to be funny. If it had been there a year ago, the wording would have seemed ironical. The sign reads: Off Limits to Military Personnel.

There is a cemetery near the camp, too. A little bit of a place. Naked, brown soil. In the background, pine trees. Near the rear of the camp, a miniature obelisk. A DP tells you about it.

"It's to commemorate 1,130 Russian soldiers who died here in the winter of 1941-42 of typhus," he says.

Then he shows you the contagious ward of the camp, set off by four parallel barbed-wire fences. If you got a contagious disease, the Nazis put you there. Not many recovered.

Strange thing about the Germans in nearby Bad Orb (and Dachau and Buchenwald). Those innocent people didn't know there was a camp there.

When the Americans liberated the place and moved on, the German farmers looted the camp of the pitifully few supplies that were left behind. Even after this they "did not know" that there had been a prisoner-of-war camp in their midst.

Army Day 1946. Well, the Germans know they have had a war. Today there are more PWs working for the American Army or being guarded by our forces than there are U. S. forces in the theater. In brief, there are more than 500,000 Axis PWs on hand. Of these, approximately 125,000 are in cages, awaiting trial or are detained for other reasons.

Last year, at this time, there were 17,000 U. S. planes in the theater, operated by a force of nearly 600,000 men. Today, there are fewer than 6,000 planes and soon this number will be reduced to 2,662—USAFE requirements.

A year ago there were 152 airfields and 226 supplementary installations in the theater; today, there are 23 airfields and 32 installations. Wiesbaden is planning an air show on Army Day, but Wiesbaden isn't sure it can get an adequate number of crews and planes for the event.

It was almost all over a year ago on Army Day. Everybody knew that, but few persons trusted their judgement on the matter. The Germans, everybody thought, would fight to the last man; to the remotest crag in the Bavarian Alps; to the tiniest "werewolf."

Axis Machine Collapses; Leader Far From Heroic

When Franklin Roosevelt died, (April 12) six days after Army Day, the Allied world was stunned.

But the job was nearly finished. Patton was 120 miles from Berlin. Dempsey was 185 miles from the same city. Multitudes of German soldiers were surrendering. The Russians broke into Vienna. On the same day, they ended their pact with Japan.

Immediately thereafter, viewed from today's perspective, the whole Axis machine collapsed. Hitler was dead. And Little Eva, too. And Joe Goebbels.

And one musn't forget Mussolini. He was killed, too—mutilated and spat on. Musso used to make his political opponents drink castor oil—and then make speeches. Musso thought that was funny. But Il Duce, subjected to the vilest sort of death, didn't look funny. And certainly he didn't look heroic.

Army Day. Goering and Hess and von Ribbentrop and more than a score of other top Nazis on trial for their lives at Nurnberg. They don't look heroic, either.

What does the soldier of today think of all this? That's impossible to say, but most newly imported GIs don't know their function here. Perhaps is hasn't been explained clearly; Perhaps some of the officers don't understand the job of demilitarizing, democratizing and denazifying Germany.

GI Feels Like Forgotten Man, But he Carries on in Silence

The current GI seems silent. It may be that he is bewildered. It may also be since, in ever-increasing numbers, he did not see combat or hasn't enough points to do any arithmetic concerned with redeployment, that he's bored.

Hollywood has forgotten him—generally. The big sports and education programs which were going to make his stay almost like a Cook's tour haven't materialized.

The current GI feels a little bit forgotten on Army Day. He isn't saying much. He hasn't been told his function very clearly—that of winning the peace to follow the war we won.

But he's a good Joe. He's proud of the Army, of his country, of his work. He doesn't parade his pride up and down the streets, but make no mistake about it—he likes his outfit.

He's grateful that this is Army Day, 1946. He's delighted, if he thinks about it, to realize that the omnipresent slogan "Death Is So Permanent" refers to traffic accidents rather than to death on the field of battle.

Fraternizing Commonplace; Troops Want Draft Extended

He fraternizes. That's commonplace now. The GI thinks nothing of it today.

The fighting men, for the most part, weren't here long enough to fraternize to the same extent, he says.

But what if the Germans had conquered the United States? Would it be all right for American women to fraternize with the Nazis to the same extent as GIs are mixing with the frauleins?

That will start an argument any day, even on Army Day.

Army Day 1946. The GI overseas wishes Congress would extend the draft. That would make it possible for low pointers to get home more quickly than now seems possible.

Anything else? Oh yes. When is that duration stuff going to end?

TODAY: The Reichstag, a monument to a monstrous attempt to rule the world. Working right and down: New jobs for GIs; acres of tanks are scrapped; Gen. McNarney, theater commander, gives orders; everlasting happiness of liberated Russians; FDR, still present in spirit in '46, addresses Congress.

Seattle Pitcher Racks Up 1st No-Hitter to Beat L.A.

LOS ANGELES, April 5 (AP)—Seattle's Joe De Moran pitched the first no-hit, no-run game of 1946 in organized baseball, to defeat the Los Angeles, 3-0, in the Pacific Coast League.

De Moran, 30-year-old right-hander, who won 20 games for Rainiers last year, allowed only two batters to reach first base. # 'Big Red' Was Top Horse Claims His Bedfast Groom

LEXINGTON, Ky., April 5 (AP)—As the sands of his 30th year began flowing for Man O'War, aged equine nobleman and pride of the blue grass country, things just weren't the same for the great thoroughbred. Will Harbut, (Red's) Negro groom for 16 years whose line of chatter about the horse had been heard by thousands of fans, was bedridden at his home "down the road apiece."

Harbut wasn't permitted to talk long—but it was long enough for him to leave no doubt that (Red) was "the mostest boss in the world."

Man O' War's retirement, however, is virtually complete at Samuel D. Riddle's farm near where he was foaled on March 19, 1917, and he is exercised only for about three hours daily. He is still restless and, at times, romps like a youngster.

Man O' War was retired from the turf as a three-year-old after winning 20 of the 21 races in which he started. He left the stud four years ago and among the 357 sons and daughters he sired were War Admiral and Clyde Van Duesen, Kentucky Derby winners, and War Relic.

A daughter of (Red), War Kilt, out of his crop of three-year-olds, and also owned by Riddle, is a Derby eligible this year.

'Flying Frenchmen' Rap Boston 3rd Time, 4-2

BOSTON, April 5 (AP)—Montreal's Canadiens lived up to their "Flying Frenchmen" nickname while outspeeding the Boston Bruins for a 4-2 victory, their third straight in the best of seven games series for professional hockey's prized Stanley Cup. Elmer Lach put the Montreal stickmen into a 1-0 lead in the 11th minute of fast and hard checking action, blazing a 40-foot angle shot through goalie Frankie Brimsek. The counter was promptly returned by the Bruins and Bep Guildolin evened matters by poking home a rebound on Bill Shill's closeup try.

Late in the second session Terry Reardon rammed in Kenney Smith's assist to square matters at 2-all, after Glen Harmon had beat Brimsek with another 40-foot drive to give the Canadiens a momentary advantage.

But the Flying Frenchmen's speed became really effective when Kenny Mosdell stickhanded through the Boston defense to provide the clincher at 2:45. Less than three minutes later, Dutch Hiller put the game beyond all doubt by batting in a close range angle shot after being set up by Elmer Lach.

2 Longshots Fire 69; Pace Masters Golf

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 5 (AP)—Herman Keiser, of Akron, O., and Chick Harbert, of Detroit—a couple of longshots who played around strictly to the applause of caddies—slipped in with a brace of three-under-par 69s to take a two-stroke lead over the nation's best golfers in the first round of the $10,000 Masters golf tournament.

But for the exceptional performances of this pair—Keiser shot a sizzling 32 on the first nine—the tough 6,800-yard Augusta national course, plus a roaring west wind, scored an almost complete victory over the boys who have been ripping lesser links apart during the winter.

Real Murder Climaxes End Of Gang Film

HOLLYWOOD, April 5 (AP)—A real slaying climaxed a party celebrating the conclusion of a gangster movie.

Police found Edward W. Gray, 31, studio electrician, dying beneath the film set backdrop and said it was murder.

His skull was fractured, his jaw broken and his palate pierced.

The cast and crew of "Angel On My Shoulder" joined in a party at conclusion of the filming. Paul Muni was host. Others attending included leading lady Anne Baxter and supporting players Kurt Kreuger and Joan Blair, studio sources said, but all had departed by 10 PM, several hours before Gray's body was discovered.

Muni's last scene was laid in hell with Claude Rains playing the devil. Rains departed when shooting of the picture ended about 6 PM.

The electrician, father of three children, was found beneath a 60-foot seascape backdrop. He could not have fallen, police explained, because scaffolding would have broken the plunge.

Another electrician was being questioned by police several hours later.

Security Plan Spread Urged

WASHINGTON, April 5 (AP)—Henry Wallace, Secretary of Commerce, urged Congress to extend social security benefits to approximately 20,000,000 farmers, businessmen and others not now included in the plan.

"Universal coverage is the only democratic way," Wallace told the House Ways and Means Committee.

"There is no more justification for exclusion of some sections of our population from the advantages of social security than there would be for their exclusion from the advantages of public education," he said.

He told the committee that the Commerce Department is especially interested in coverage for an estimated 4,000,000 small businessmen, saying:

"Individual members of this group need social security protection. More important, however, is the fact that such protection is one means of preserving and safeguarding the existence of this group. That existence is one of the great bulwarks of free enterprise."

Inquiry Starts On Jail-Break

WASHINGTON, April 5 (UP)—Ex-Marine Earl McFarland, 25-year-old condemned slayer, remained at large as officials pressed an investigation into the latest of a series of sensational escapes from the sieve-like Washington jail.

The jail-break led indignant Congressional leaders and the Justice Department to launch an immediate investigation into the Capital's prison practice. Attorney General Tom Clark announced the Justice Department's inquiry, shortly after the FBI was asked to help in the search for McFarland.

As the entire East Coast joined in dogged search for McFarland, his get-a-way companion Joseph D. Medley, also a condemned murderer, lounged about defiantly in his death row cell, from which the pair staged their escape yesterday.

Medley, 44, suave and sophisticated nemesis of red-haired women, was dragged shivering and cold from an 18-foot length of drainage pipe on the bank of Anacostia River seven hours after his break.

Bloodhounds led police to Medley's hideaway. They are still unable to pick up the trail of McFarland, handsome hero of Guadalcanal from the time he and Medley locked up two guards and casually made their escape through the skylight to the jail roof and slid to the ground on a sheet rope.

'Floating' Roulette to Start Off Shores of California

LOS ANGELES, April 5 (AP)—Tony Cornero says he's going back into the business of providing ways for the would-be lucky to gamble on the high seas. In 1939, Cornero watched glumly as officers tossed overboard much of the equipment from his luxurious gambling palace, Rex. The Supreme Court ruled that while the Rex was anchored three miles off Santa Monica, it was within waters of the bay, and therefore within jurisdiction of California's laws.

Senate Group OKs Housing

WASHINGTON, April 5 (AP)—President Truman's emergency housing legislation, including 600 million dollars for building materials subsidies, was unanimously approved by the Senate Banking Committee.

The bill also provides for price ceilings on existing homes.

Republicans supported the measure after losing 12 to 6 in an effort to cut the subsidy fund to 300 million dollars. Sen. Homer E. Capehart (R-Ind.) offered the motion and said he will take his fight for it to the Senate floor.

Capehart said Housing Expeditor Wilson Wyatt could start the program with 300 million dollars and come back for more money if he needed it.

The House had refused any money for the subsidies which President Truman called the very heart of his program, and also cut out ceiling prices on existing residences.

Probers Prepare Report

LAUSANNE, April 5 (AP)—Members of the Anglo-American commission in Palestine, have begun sifting evidence gathered during their long trek across Europe and the Middle East. A spokesman said it may take about a month to complete the report.

The Seattle Post-Intelligencer said Cornero purchased Aroostook, 286-foot ex-Atlantic coastal steamer in Navy service since World War I. The Los Angeles Times said operation was patterned after trips of the old La Playa of the 1930s "which was to take passengers on a 'cruise to nowhere' but did not open gambling rooms until 12 miles at sea."

Cornero said: "This time I'll be perfectly safe. I've made sure of that. Everything I do will be perfectly legal."

His announcement set off a barrage of retorts.

State Attorney General Robert F. Kenney's office reported: "Regardless of where he is on the high seas, if he is inducing citizens to go out and be fleeced, he comes in our jurisdiction."

Tony Romano to Wed Miss Barbara Hayden

OPA Survives First Voting of House Group

WASHINGTON, April 5 (AP)—Congressional battles for keeping price controls alive shed some of their gloom as OPA came through the first House Banking Committee voting with fewer wounds than had been expected.

Rep. Mike Monroney (D-Okla.), who said earlier "it looks like OPA will be amended to death," told newsmen, "I believe now OPA will be continued in a shape that will work."

But the administration has yet to weather a battle on the House floor where opposition may be stronger than in the committee.

That group voted to repeal OPA's program requiring manufacturers to make low-cost clothing. It also approved a plan for gradual lifting of price controls as supplies of scarce items come into balance with demand.

The committee, meeting behind closed doors, turned to amendments proposing to set up a formula for closing out subsidy programs.

ASK TWO BILLIONS

The Administration currently is asking Congress for $2,051,000,000 to continue these premium payments, particularly on food. Their design is to keep retail prices down even as production costs rise.

Another decision the committee still must make is whether to recommend a full year extension of OPA asked by the Administration or a nine-month lease on life, as proposed by Rep. Jesse P. Wolcott (R-Mich.), senior Republican member.

Yanks Forget 8,000 Brides

WASHINGTON, April 5 (AP)—At least 8,000 war brides and children of servicemen are stranded overseas and cannot be brought to the U. S., the War Department disclosed, unless the husbands and fathers concerned take action.

Likewise stranded are some war bridegrooms, alien husbands acquired by Wacs and nurses.

The War Department reported that through March 31, a total of 20,875 dependents—14,966 women and 5,709 children—had arrived and an additional 2,000 were on their way. During the next three months, 40,183 are scheduled to reach this country.

That leaves approximately 8,000 dependents who apparently are eligible for transportation but whose papers are not in order or whose transportation has not been requested by the husbands or fathers. The War Department attributes the situation to the failure of some GIs to understand procedure but did not rule out the possibility of wartime marriages gone awry.

'U.S. Gangs Up on Russia'—Pepper

WASHINGTON, April 5 (AP)—Sen. Claude Pepper (D-Fla.), an ardent supporter of late President Roosevelt's New Deal, asserted in the Senate today that the U.S. was joining with other nations in "ganging up on Russia."

Pepper said anyone who raises a voice in support of Russia is called a Communist. He said the U.S. seemed to be joining with Britain in a "Siamese twin fraternal alliance" directed against Russia.

"Byrnes (Secretary of State James F.) had better change his policy or his action will belie his words," he declared. When Pepper added,

"it is easy to gang up on Russia," Sen. Carl A. Hatch (D-N.M.) broke in, saying: "I strongly deny the implication that this country is ganging up with any other country against Russia."

Declaring the U.S. should use its efforts to cancel all single-nation mandates and place dependent peoples under United Nations trusteeships, Pepper shouted:

"I have not seen the Secretary of State as a gallant knight riding to the liberation of Indonesia, where some of our lend lease equipment has been used to shoot down people who are seeking liberty," he said.

Pepper declared he felt the British were making only a "sanctimonious pretense that they offer freedom for everybody."

"They are for freedom for every Englishman, and that is about all," he said.

Chairman Tom Connally (D-Tex.) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee had just praised the Russian agreement to withdraw troops from Iran.

Pepper said that was all well and good but that Britain ought to withdraw its troops from Iraq, Trans-Jordan, Lebanon, Syria and Palestine.

Three Church Groups Hit Extension of Draft

WASHINGTON, April 5 (UP)—Three church organizations asked the Senate Military Affairs Committee to let the draft die May 15. An American Legion representative supported continuation of conscription and charged opposition to America remaining strong came largely from subversive elements. Unless selective service is extended we cannot maintain present armed forces at requested strength, said Col. John Thomas Taylor, American Legion legislative representative. Rapid demobilization has left defenses in such an uncertain state that it amounts almost to chaos, he said.

Rabbi Isadore Hoffman, representing the Rabbinical Assembly of America, told the committee 18-year-olds who would form a large bloc of draftees are hardly suitable to police politically-tough occupied countries.

FRIENDS REPRESENTED
Ramond Wilson, executive secretary of the Friends' committee on national legislation, testified that continuance of conscription is not the kind of leadership this country ought to offer to a dying world.

Charles F. Boss, Jr., of the commission on world peace, of the Methodist Church, told the committee no compelling facts have been presented to the American people convincing them of need for further extension of the draft. Boss said teen-aged draftees are not capable of performing the complicated ambassadorial duties of occupation troops and urged the U.S. to rely on vigorous recruiting appeals to high-caliber men.

Meanwhile the House Military Affairs Committee concluded hearings on draft extension legislation with opposition testimony from representatives of religious, railroad and military groups. The committee scheduled a showdown vote on draft extension tomorrow.

He will be met on his arrival by Comdr. C. R. Jeffs of the U.S. Navy, commander of the American Naval base here, and an escort of military police.

Walker, who is assuming command of British naval forces in Germany, will inspect American Naval personnel and operational facilities in the two areas.

Slav, Italian Amity Termed Vital to Peace

BELGRADE, April 5 (AP)—Second Vice-President of Yugoslavia Edward Kardel said today good relations between Yugoslavia and Italy are a vital factor of peace in Venezia Giulia. But he warned that Trieste in Italian hands will again be a threat to the national independence of Yugoslavia.

In an exclusive interview with the Associated Press, Kardel also declared the recently-concluded treaty with Poland, an expected pact with Czecho-Slovakia, and the older treaty with the Soviet Union do not constitute a threat to anyone.

'NEVER AGGRESSORS,' HE SAYS
"Our Slav peoples never were aggressors. But we were many times attacked," he said, adding that "in the future we desire a free hand for the immediate needs of reconstruction."

Kardel explained that the Yugoslav treaties do not mean a lack of faith in the United Nations Organization.

In the Trieste situation, Kardel said, he felt that the "Allies are supporting old aggression in a question in which our people have a full right to be satisfied. Our attitude toward our rights in Venezia Giulia does not mean we have unfriendly feelings towards the Italian people, but we cannot abdicate our rights."
